FOOD SUPPLY CUT OFF

BEGIN A STARVATION DRIVE IN RUHR AREA

FRANCE HOPES TO FORCE TERMS BY BLOCKADE

The Whole of Occupied Area Now Severed from Rest of Nation.—Unrest Grows and Reds Hold Menace Over Berlin.

Essen.—The latest move of the forces of occupation to break the passive resistance of the Germans is the taking over of the railroad stations of Dortmund, Bochum, Herne, Gelsenkirchen and other industrial towns. The whole occupied area is now severed from the rest of Germany.

The French control absolutely all the railroad lines leading into and through the Ruhr by which the Germans had been bringing in food supplies from unoccupied Germany. The food situation is critical, the French having thus blocked the last source of food shipments.

These food shipments to the Ruhr had been from five hundred to six hundred carloads daily.

When the remaining lines were taken over, the German railroad men quit work as a part of their passive resistance program. Owing to the seizure of the lines, according to the French authorities, the Germans now will have to come to terms with the French to allow the necessary food supplies to reach the inhabitants of the Ruhr.

The Germans claim French guards have refused the Germans permission to enter the Dortmund station and take charge of French milk destined to hospitals and the children. The French deny this, saying that the railroad men all quit work when the troops arrived, and that they have not tried to come back to work since.

GREAT BRITAIN BUILDS GIANT SUBMARINE.—"MYSTERY SHIP"

London.—Great Britain's "mystery ship," the giant submarine X-1, is featured in all the London newspapers, the consensus of opinion being that this vessel will set all foreign powers guessing. All England is discussing the new "monster of the deep," which is 1,400 tons larger than the largest German U-boat, the U-142, and has a total displacement of 3,600 tons. The X-1 is said to carry a 13.5-inch rifle and has a crusing radius of about 6,000 miles. It is propelled by electricity when submerged and by steam on the surface.

This battleship of the sub-surface will cost about $4,000,000 when completed and is capable of operating with the battle fleet on the surface or submerged, and also of operating alone over a wide area and away from her base.

THREE MEN SHOT IN A FAMILY FUED AT SAN JOSE

San Jose.—Three men were shot in a gun battle here as the result of a family row, at the home of A. G. San Fillippo. Peter Romen, 24, received four shots in his body. He was taken to the East Columbia hospital. San Fillippo, 45, was shot in the left thigh and his son, Phillip Fillippo, 23, was wounded in the arm. Romen's attentions to Fillippo's daughter, Mary, led to the shooting.

Romen told the officers he was standing on the front porch smoking a cigarette when Fillippo opened fire on him, and that he emptied his gun at them.

Daugherty's Son Flits Hospital

Stamford.—Major Draper M. Daugherty, son of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, an inmate of Stamford Hall Sanitarium here, escaped from an attendant by leaping into the automobile of a party of friends. Daugherty voluntarily entered the sanitarium April 5. Later he was formally committed for a period of not less than four months nor more than a year. The proceedings were instituted on the application of Jean B. Daugherty, his wife, and M. S. Daugherty, his uncle.

Three Bridge Workers Killed

GOVERNMENT TO SPEND $1,674,000 ON BAY WORK

Army Engineer Outlines Plan of Harbors and Channels Improvements.— $1,000,000 Goes to Oakland Side.

San Francisco.—The sum of $1,674,000 will be expended immediately on improvement of harbors and channels around San Francisco bay by the federal government, according to an announcement made by Col. Herbert Deakyne, United States army engineer corps, in charge of fortifications, rivers and harbors in this district.

The dredging of the bar outside the Golden Gate and the widening and deepening of the main channel to a depth that will allow the largest and deepest draft vessels to enter San Francisco bay without danger will commence as soon as a large government dredge can be sent here from the Atlantic coast.

In addition the program provides for dredging Oakland estuary and improvement of the Oakland harbor, and dredging at Mare Island, San Pablo bay, San Rafael Creek and Suisun Channel.

The main channel to San Francisco Bay is 36 feet at its greatest depth, and at some places 30 feet. The plan of the army engineers is to make it 43 feet deep in all places and 2,000 feet wide.

This part of the work will cost approximately $530,000, of which congress has appropriated $300,000, so that work can start at once.

The work on the Oakland side will cost about $1,000,000. Of this amount congress has appropriated $235,000, of which $200,000 will be spent on enlarging the harbor, while $35,000 will be used for maintaining the channel in the estuary.

WALL STREET FIRM OWING $11,000,000 FALLS TO RECEIVER

New York.—Wall Street, which had been feeling minor tremors for two weeks, received a shock which brought it up standing when it was announced that the firm of Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne had been placed in the hands of the receiver. It appear, however, that the failure is not a serious one and that all debts will be paid, dollar for dollar.

Upon the heels of this announcement came word from the Pacfiic coast that the A. W. Coote company of Los Angeles and San Francisco had temporarily suspended to straighten out their account with the New York company.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT EXAMINE IRRIGATION PROJECTS

Washington.—The program of the interior department for irrigation investigation during the fiscal year 1924 as announced by Secretary Work comprising projects in eleven western states includes the following for California: A new site for a storage reservoir in Iron Canyon and examination of a project for a movable dam on the lower Sacramento to prevent salt water from San Francisco bay flowing into the Sacramento river; also examination of irrigation possibilities in the Hay Fork river valley.

Atlanta Expects 50,000 Elks

Atlanta.—Not less than 50,000 Elks are expected at the annual convention of the grand lodge which meets in Atlanta July 9 to 10. The gathering will assemble from Maine to Hawaii, with indications pointing to representation from a large majority of the 1,600 lodges in the country. This is the first time a convention of the grand lodge has been held in the southeast, and the first time in ten years that the order has come south.

Wisconsin Passes Wet Bill

Madison.—The Tucker bill providing for repeal of the Severson prohibition enforcement law in Wisconsin was passed by the assembly of the Wisconsin legislature 39 ot 35. This measure now goes to the "dry" senate, where indefinite postponement is anticipated by both those opposing prohibition enforcement and those favoring.

S. F. Autoist Convicted

Visalia.—Daniel E. Collins, San Francisco and Fresno real estate man, was convicted here of manslaughter as a result of the death of Lewis Hawks, messenger of the Hanford Journal. Hawk was riding a motorcycle on the highway on the night of February 26 when he was "sideswiped" by Collins' automobile and fatally injured.

DEDICATION SERVICES VERY IMPRESSIVE

The services held Sunday in the Congregational church awakened many pleasant memories for those who are among the older membership of the church, and gave to the younger ones a knowledge of the early history of the church which endears the institution to them.

As the program appeared in our last issue it is unnecessary to go much into detail but it is a pleasure to record the appreciation of the congregation of the beautiful music at both the morning and afternoon services.

Miss Abbie Sykes, of Vallejo, sang an exquisite sweet number, "Spirit of God," which aroused a deep feeling of devotion. The other special number of the morning service was a duet by Miss Helen Heath and Mr. H. C. Smith, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," that was highly appreciated. Miss Heath is a paid member of the choir in one of San Francisco's large churches, which she left to lend her assistance in making this occasion a success.

In the afternoon Miss Heath sang a beautiful solo, in addition to the music furnished by the choir of the First Presbyterian Church of San Jose. Under the direction of Mr. Homer DeWitt this choir sang two difficult anthems that the congregation thoroughly enjoyed. The solo with which Mr. Pugh favored the assemblage was another delightful part of the day's pleasure.

The Hymn of Dedication in which reference was made to the memorial window was written by Rev. G. E. Atkinson.

Several memorials ere presented to the church by interested members and supporters.

The large east figured windo depicting the "Good Shepherd," was presented by H. H. Windsor of Chicago, in memory of his father, the Rev. Windsor, first pastor. On the north the set of windows was the gift of Frank and Adah Nelson in memory of their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Nelson.

Thaddeus, Alice and Lucy Joy were the doners of the south windows as a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Savage. The pulpit set was presented by Mrs. J. Fred Smith and children in memory of Prof. Smith, for many years principal of Campbell high school.

The communion table was given by the children of Mrs. Willet as a memorial.

Pleasant features of the dedication service were the congratulatory greetings brought by the Rev. F. M. Morrison for the sister churches of the county, by the Rev. G. E .Atkinson, of Ceres, formerly of this church and by Rev. F. C. Farr of the local Methodist church.

Mrs. L. F. Shaw, clerk of the church board, read letters of greeting from Mrs. Windsor and her son, H. H. Windsor.

The transfer of the keys by the architect, Mr. Thaddeus Joy, to the building committee represented by Mr. R. G. Archibald, who in turn delivered them to the trustees thru Mr. Theodore Cutting, was an enjoyable exchange of complimentary remarks of appreciation and congratulations. It was altogether a very happy occasion and one long to be remembered.

EXHIBIT DISPLAYS TALENT AND WORK

The exhibit of the work of the Domestic Art and Drawing classes of the C. U. H. S. was very effectively arranged in the corridors of the school Annex and was visited by many interested friends both afternoon and evening.

Miss Lois Gardner is instructiro in sewing and cooking, her classes in the first named course had an extensive array of garments,--daity underwear, blouses in all the latest styles, simple but attractive cotton dresses and several pretty silk ones.

The skill of the cooking class was demonstrated in a pretty booth where members of the class served delicious punch from a bowl embedded in nasturtiums, and excellen white sugar cookies.

The art pupils, under the teaching of Miss Kittie Johnson had several varieties of work. On the walls were hung the charcoal and pastel drawings, some of them showing decided talent. Below these were grouped the Art Note Books which the students compile, bind and design a cover for.

One table held the portfolios of the Mechical Drawing students, which contained some very excellent plates. On other tables were displays by the Applied Art class—tooled leather desk sets, enameled pieces, decorated trays, woven baskets and trays of various styles.

The work as exhibited from these two departments shows careful and painstaking instruction, and earnest effort on the part of the pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gardner and daughter have gone to Echo Lake, for a two weeks' outing.

CAMPBELL HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES RECORD CLASS

The Commencement exercises Friday evening which made the Class of '23, C. U. H. S. Alumnae, were decidedly interesting and worth while.

The new auditorium proved none to large to accommodate the host of relatives and friends assembled in honor of the large class of graduates. This class had two points of distinction in numbers, being the largest class and also exceeding by 10 the number of boys in any one preceeding the roll being 22 boys nd 9 girls.

The entrance of the class was very impressive and they, with the faculty, well filled the stage which the Junior Class had beautified with a bank of Dusty Miller, on which the figures '23 were designed in pink roses, so carrying out the class colors of salmon and silver.

The song "America" which was sung by a double quartet of the graduates was very effective. As the program states three of the four parts were written by Prof. Josef Halamicek, who has charge of music in the school. Other musical numbers were a solo by Vivian Gill, accompanied by Irma Young, which was much enjoyed, and "America" in which the audience united.

The address of W. G. Alexander was one of exceptional value to a group of young people just about to enter upon the wider duties and responsibilities of life. He presented his points clearly and cncisely, and stressed the obligation which they owed the community and government that had given them all the advantages educationally which they had enjoyed.

He explained the difference in meaning of ownership, which is merely a legal claim, and possession, by which a thing becomes a part of oneself. He urged them to learn to get for themselves the possessions from outside.

Three qualities are essential to success, honesty, industry and thrift—be true, be willing to work and to save.

There are four aims which may determine ones course thru life, the acquirment of wealth, pleasure, fame, or usefulness. The first is commendable, provided one makes riches a slave and not a master; fame is fickle, but to be useful in the world should be the real goal of every life.

In urging upon the young people their civic obligation he made clear that not size, population or wealth determined the greatness of a nation, citing Russia, China and Mexico as illustrations, but the character of the people.

Dr. Townsend gave a short talk to the class before presenting the diplomas, mentioning some points of vantage of our school and what the board looks forward to, as equipping the new gymnasium and other improvements.

Mr. D. H. Cramer voiced the appreciation of the graduates and of the audience for the privilege of holding the Commencement in the grammar school, which made it possible for every one who wished to attend.

Personal Depreciation

FRED Ashton, bookkeeper of the North Bay Machine Company, is an average young man, of the easy-going sort. That is to say, he applies himself pretty closely to his job during work hours, enjoys himself pretty thoroughly in spare time, and doesn't save any money. However, in regard to saving money, he has just decided to turn over a new leaf in the middle of the year.

It happened this way: Last week he began posting up the data for the semi-annual trial balance. Sitting at his desk with a frown of concentration on his face, and biting the eraser of his pencil in between figures, he came to the item "depreciation." Wanting a bit of paper on which to jot down the item temporarily, he picked up a torn circular letter envelope marked "personal," and on this scrap he wrote a word. Then he sat up straight very suddenly. On the envelope was the accidental combination of two words, "personal depreciation."

Depreciation of machinery Fred understood well enough. But personal depreciation! As if to drive the point home, a tapping sounded on the floor. Fred turned and saw an old man, shaky, palsied, leaning on a cane. The remnant of a man held out a bunch of cheap pencils—"Pencil? please mister." Handing the human wreck a dime, Fred turned away and said something under his breath. He sat looking at the scrap of paper with its two words, "personal depreciation." He was very still for a long time.

"A working life of comparatively few years—chance of accident—ill health—certainty of old age if I live,"—those are some of the thoughts that sobered Fred. Then he was struck by an idea and smiled cheerfully. So, from his last pay check, he has started a savings account, only he calls it a sinking fund to cover personal depreciation.

PICNIC ANYWAY

Great woe and disappointment reigned Friday when not only did Old Sol fail to shed his bright beams upon this section, but the rain descended from above. The grammar school was to enjoy its annual picnic at Alum Rock Park but this untimely rain almost prevented. A phone message from the park stating that no rain had fallen there decided the more venturesome to make the attempt and busses and truck set forth.

Dinner, which is, of course, the main feature of a picnic, was pretty well over before the showers began but it brought the party home early, many of them more or less wet, but apparently still in good spirits.

SILVER AND THE GOVERNMENT

The time approaches when purchase of silver mined by the U. S. Treasury under provision of the Pittman act at any price of one dollar an ounce must cease.

The director of the mint has given notice that only six million ounces remain to be purchased to complete the authorized quota.

After that silver must rely upon world market quotations for its price, which at present is about sixty cents an ounce. To those who do not understand why the United States mint is buying silver at one dollar an ounce when it could be bought for sixty cents,, a little history needs to be retold.

During the war the British government had to sustain the paper rupee in India with coin.

Owing to the war silver was above par, and England had to supply the amount needed.

The only silver available $300,000,000 deposited in the United States treasury accumulated under the silver purchase act of former years.

The British government opened negotiations for the purchase of this silver for the Indian mint. It cost us sixty cents but we sold it to England at that particular imet for one dollar an ounce and the British were very glad to get it at the price.

The Pittman act then provided that this silver should be replaced in the treasury by purchases in the market at one dollar an ounce whenever the price went below that figure. The morality of selling to the British at one dollar when the market price was more was that one dollar price protected the treasury from any loss and was a help to an ally in the war.

RAILROADS HAVE FAITH IN OUR COUNTRY

In 1922 the railroads spent $440,000,000 for cars, locomotives, trackage and other facilities. This year the railroads have authorized expenditures for equipment and other facilities of more than one billion dollars, divided as follows: Cars, $515,000,0000; Locomotives, $160,000,000; trackage and other facilities 425,000,000.

The size of this undertaking, and the spirit in which it was announced, is significent of a more hopeful and cheerful outlook on the part of railroad management. The railroads of the country are spending this amount of additional capital, largely borrowed money, on the abiding faith in the fairness of the American people and reliance on reasonable protection to invest in railroad property.

Evidently it has been determined that without deploring the past or complaining of the present, railroad managements show what they can do if left alone as the best safeguard against anticipated legislation for further regulation of the rail carriers.

The storage of coal for railroad use, heavier loading, and faster movement are also features of the plans agreed upon by the roads.

PHYSICIAN SUMMONED BY RADIO

The steamship West Cahous, lying at anchor in Baltimore harbor, about nine miles from the city, needed medical help at about 3 a. m. recently and needed it quickly. A member of the crew had fallen in the hold and had hurt himself seriously. So the captain of the ship sent a wireless broadcasting asking for help.

The call was picked up, not in Baltimore nine miles away but in Cape May, N. J., about 100 miles due east of Baltimore. As Cape May was separated from the West Cahous by part of New Jersey and Delaware and by the eastern shore of Maryland, not to mention Delaware and Chesapeake Bays, no direct help from it was possible.

But theoperator was on the job. Promptly he consulted the long list inBaltimore telephone direcory and called the surgeon in charge of the Marine hospital in Baltimore—100 miles to the west. The surgeon, roused from sleep to receive the message, asked him to radio certain emergency treatment to West Cahous and to direct the captain to send a boat to a certain pier in Baltimore, where he would find a surgeon waiting to go to the ship with him. And, so, in the middle of the night in less than an hour, a wireless-controlled seagoing ambulance carrying an officer reached the side of the injured sailor and brought him later to the hospital.

TAX EXEMPT EVIL MUST BE CURED—WHY NOT NOW?

Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, speaking recently in the house in support of the proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit further issuance of tax-exempt securities said that he had been abie to find only two objections to the amendment so far —that it would increase the value of bonds already outstanding, and that it might make the state and municipalities pay a little more interest on the money borrowed.

Answering these objections, Representative Crisp said that the step must be taken some time, "or you will dry up your source of revenue for the federal government, and if the federal government can not collect money from the wealth of the land through an income tax as sure as night follows day congress will have to levy consumption taxes, sales taxes, excise taxes and other vicious, annoying taxes, for the government must have revenue."

BUILDING COSTS NOT HIGH RELATIVELY

When our grandfathers and grandmothers were married, the first thing they thought of was getting a real home. Now, young married people live in a 3-room apartment with a garage as an added attraction. There is too little of the own your own home movement, says Gus A. Lenoir, San Francisco business man. The home building movement is one that should be fostered.

While it costs more to own a home today than it did in the days of our grand parents, the income of the prospective home builder is proportionally greater than was that of their ancestors. One trouble today is that here is too much of a tendency to buy a home beyond one's means. The organization or individual which makes it possible for a man or woman to buy a home at a fair price and on reasonable terms is benefitting the community.

Draw a distinction between the high cost of building and the high cost of buying every new fangled contraption that is dangled before the prospective home builder. Build your home first and add some of the nonessentials later if you feel you have to.

RADIO NO LONGER PLAYTHING

When a Chicago boy can sit at a table in his own room and talk by radio with boys in Ohio, Pennsylvania and other states, and probably in the near future other nations, he is pretty likely to be more interested in that than in the pool hall down the street.

Two years ago radio was considered more of a plaything for the amateur electrical inventor except where it was used by the government experts. Today it is almost a universal household word and the present generation of youngsters discuss radio apparatus, broadcasting stations, etc., in a language which their eiders do not understand.

Radio as a means of reaching every nook and corner of the world instantly is going to be one of the greatest civilizing influences ever bestowed upon mankind.

Don't laugh at the boy when he talks about radio. Help him set up his little set and take an interest in it yourself, and before you know it you will be taking the same language as the boy and interesting yourself in affairs you never dreamed of.
